

SIZE GUIDE

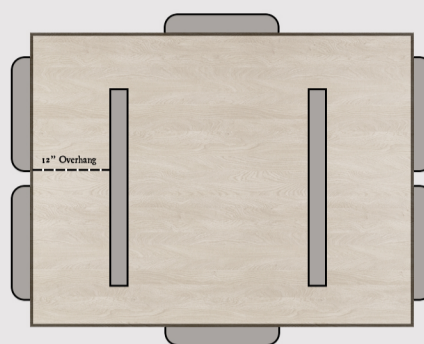

When deciding on what size table to purchase, here are some things to keep in mind:

- Allow 2' per place setting
- Allow 3' of clearance from all sides of your table to the nearest wall or piece of furniture

60" x 37"

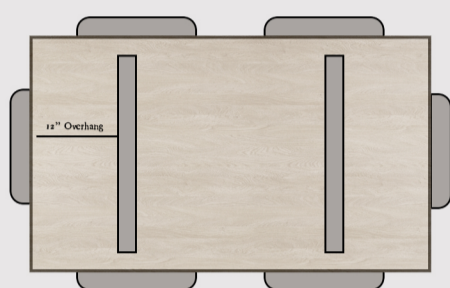

60" x 43"

A 60" table can comfortably seat four, with one chair on each side and one on each end. Adding extra width will allow you to snugly seat six.

72" x 37"

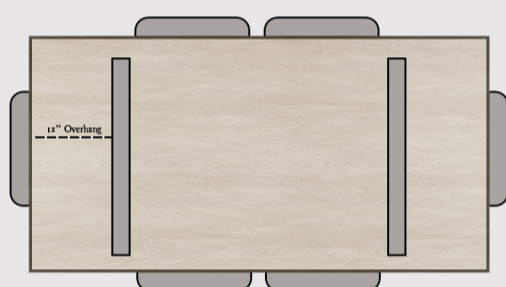

72" x 43"

A 72" table can comfortably seat six, with two chairs on each side, straddling the base, and one chair on each end.

78" x 37"

78" x 43"

A 78" table is ideal for seating six. With two chairs fitting comfortably between the base on either side and one on each end, this length provides a spacious layout for a party of six.

84" x 37"

84" x 43"

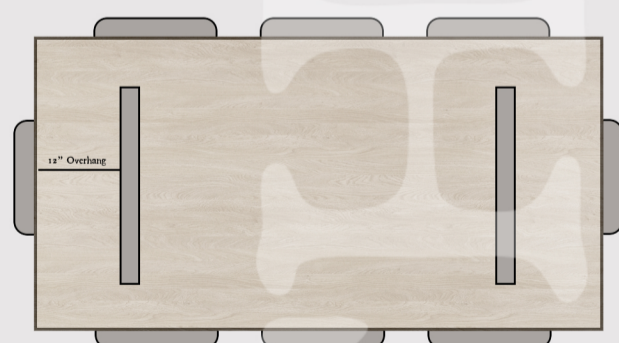

An 84" long table gives you options. You can comfortably seat six to eight guests depending on your seating configuration. Swapping chairs for a bench on one or both sides might be helpful here.

96" x 37"

96" x 43"

A 96" table can seat eight comfortably, with three chairs on either side (two on each side straddling the base) and one on each end.

102" x 37"

102" x 43"

A 102" table is ideal for seating eight to ten guests. With six feet between the base, three chairs can fit comfortably. Straddling the base will allow you to add a fourth to each side.
